Training and Mentoring

One of ProPitch priorities is knowledge transfer training local ground staff to continue to care for the playing surfaces ProPitch have helped to deliver. Our agronomists take time to train local staff and to enhance their skills. ProPitch regularly provide training seminars and consultancy services to MA's and Governing Bodies. Many of our Clients are still discussing their pitches with our agronomists many years after the tournaments have finished.

Recently we have produced a number of training and informative webinars which can be provided online and remotely. These can easily be hosted at short notice and tailored to your needs.

Consultancy Services

From international Stadia to Municipality sports fields our Consultants can provide a wide range of consultancy services. We regularly provide feasibility studies, land surveys and site investigations to allow for the proper design of new or the renovation of existing pitches.

We can prepare detail designs and specifications for scope of works agreed. We can run the tenders and make recommendations for awarding the contract together with full project management and contract administration services.

ProPitch aim to provide a fully integrated one stop shop service. Check out this link to see our web site for Consultancy services;

Monitoring and Supporting Grow-ins

One of the most sought after services is to monitor the grow-in of new or renovated pitches. Our expert knowledge of nurturing a field at this delicate stage has proven vital to many tournaments when a time dependant handover date is critical. This service however translates to other less onerous situations too.

Providing back up expertise to Clubs when issues come along preseason has also been a huge benefit ProPitch can offer.

Further providing intervention strategies to Local Authorities who have invested heavily in sand based pitches for the community/Club pitches has acted to save many investments throughout the UK and Ireland.

IF YOU CAN MEASURE IT, YOU CAN MANAGE IT!
